Final orders will be accepted through June 30, 2007. End of support for this product will occur on May 31, 2009.

The Client Integrity Module (CIM) includes ArubaOS components that permit upload and delivery of a downloadable software application, as well as a Windows application that permits configuration of the downloadable software application. The downloadable software application is produced by Symantec and is sold by Aruba as an OEM product. This resale relationship is being discontinued. Aruba will continue to support the integrated features in ArubaOS for the lifetime of the associated releases.

Aruba will continue to maintain and support the ArubaOS software component that permits interworking with the Symantec On-Demand Protection (SODP) software. Existing customers who have purchased CIM from Aruba will continue to have access to the features required for SODP operation in future ArubaOS software releases. Aruba will continue to qualify ArubaOS releases using the currently available version of SODP.

Aruba currently distributes SODP version 2.6. With the termination of the resale relationship, Aruba will no longer receive and cannot distribute new releases of Symantec software. Customers who wish to receive SODP software updates in the future should contact Symantec directly at +1(800) 745-6054. Aruba will continue to directly support the ArubaOS components that integrate with SODP.
